Reading Endorsement
(19 semester hours)

The following graduate courses constitute the reading endorsement:

EDT 559 Advanced Reading Instruction (3)
(fall semester and sometimes summer)

EDT 632 Diagnostic and Prescriptive Reading Instruction (3)
(spring semester)

EDT 634 Reading Clinic: Diagnosis (3) (EDT 632 is pre-requisite)
(summer only)

EDT 635 Reading Clinic: Instruction (4) (EDT 634 is co-requisite)
(summer only)

EDT 646 Advanced Reading in the Content Area (3)
(spring semester and sometimes summer)
Or EDT 546 Reading in the Secondary School (3)
(fall semester, when offered)

EDT 642 Phonics Instruction (3) (New course, currently being developed.)
(term offered—to be determined)

Additionally, those seeking a reading endorsement must score 540 on the Praxis II reading endorsement test.

Many students who want a reading endorsement also end up pursuing the M.Ed. in Reading. Graduate students may begin taking the reading classes at Miami University under what is called “continuing graduate status” (CGS) and then apply for a specific master’s program later. Please note that you may only apply 8 hours of graduate credit earned as a CGS student to any master’s degree to which you may later be admitted.
